EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with M. Henry Heines on 21 November 2005.

The application has been amended as follows:

In the claims:

- a. In claim 1 at line 11, please delete the word "and" and insert the word --or-- after "represented by X, Y,".
- b. In claim 12 at line 16, please delete the word "and" and insert the word --or-- after "represented by X, Y,".

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The primary reason for allowance is the combination of limitations that at least one of the groups X, Y, and Z is a guanidine group and that one of the amine groups has the specified carboxylate substituent. The Rodkey et al and Just references teach carrier ampholytes formed from the reaction of polyamines and alpha-beta unsaturated carboxylic acids, which would not comprise at least one guanidine group as required in the instant claims. Goodman et al teach guanidinylation reagents that could be used in synthesizing compounds as claimed, but no disclosure or suggestion to do so is given in the reference, which focuses on the general reactivity of their reagents. Other related compounds comprising guanidine groups are taught by Cherksey et al and Badcock et al, but they provide no disclosure of the carboxylate group required in the claims, and do not disclose any utility as ampholytes. No motivation to modify these references to provide the compounds or methods claimed was found in the prior art of record.

Therefore, the claims are considered to patentably distinguish over the prior art.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
